ANNIE S. CLARKE,
Treasurer of Board of Education.

FRANCESTOWN, Feb. 28, 1893.

We, the undersigned auditors of the town of Francetown, have examined the accounts of Selectmen, Town Treasurer, Treasurer of the Board of Education and Trustees of Town Library, and find said accounts to be correctly cast and duly vouched.

GEO. F. PETTEE, } Town
A. H. BIXBY, } Auditors.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

There is nothing so essential to the welfare and greatness of a nation as the public schools. As they have been nurtured and improved so has that town or nation become prosperous and enlightened, a blessing not only to itself but a public benefactor to the towns and nations with which by trade and commerce it is immediately connected. The question should be earnestly and continually asked, "What are our duties and responsibilities in regard to the education of the children of our own town?" What can we do to further this noble cause and make our own town what in our imagination it should be? Education is no dead issue, it is a live one and must always come to the front as long as there is a child within the boundary line of our town. We want no mushroom growth or hot-house culture. We want an earnest, steady and continued growth for not a day or week but a lifetime. We want not only your money but you and your interest to help make our schools better places of education for the minds, souls and bodies of our children. Make fewer schools and more schooling. A little sacrifice sometimes brings a great blessing.

We sometimes fear
The millennial year (of education)
Will never reach here.

For that ideal, in its best and truest sense, means that every teacher shall be in the right place at the right time, that in every scholar the hunger and thirst of the intellect for knowledge shall keep pace with the similar demands of the body, that the State shall provide adequate ways and means and that the Board of Education, or whatever the controlling power may be, shall have the wisdom to so adjust the several parts of this wonderful system that all shall go like clock-work.

The remark is often made that outside of pure mathematics nothing is impossible, so we take new courage and keep pegging away.

“Columbus year,” with its flags and songs, its noble incentives to a higher and purer patriotism, has come and gone, and with it the usual proportion of successes and failures. We should rejoice in the one and profit by the experience of the other.

Until medical science has learned how to annihilate contagious diseases, and the art of right living has become fully understood and practiced, we may expect the recurrence of these moral and physical epidemics.

DISTRICT No. 1.

The scholars in this district were carried during the summer term to District No. 3; I think that it gave general satisfaction. The fall term the services of Miss Mary L. Bryant were secured. At the very first she seemed to have struck the keynote and gained the attention and love of all her scholars, which she held to the end of the term and gave to this school one of the best terms which it has ever had. We hope her services may again be procured for some school in this town. In our estimation she has a remarkable ability as a teacher.

The winter term was taught by Miss Martha M. Woodbury, a faithful, earnest teacher. She gained the good will both of parents and pupils, thereby adding another of those terms which give a standard reputation to the teacher. We think a great deal of credit is due the scholars in this district for their marked improvement.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Primary Department.

Miss Minnie Tobie taught the entire year in this school. She is a teacher full of ideas, never satisfied with what she has done but continually seeking for better methods. She has gained both for herself and her scholars a closer resemblance to what a model school and teacher should be. May she again and again give us her services.

Measles and storms made such havoc during the winter term that it was closed sooner than intended.

Grammar School.

George K. Wood has been the teacher in this department during the entire year, and we congratulate ourselves in having procured such an able teacher and retained him so long in this town. One has only to visit this school if they wish to find a live school; scholars active and at work, ready in answering questions and skilful in performing examples. Their work in book-keeping should be especially commended. As the terms in this district were shortened on account of measles and bad weather, the spring term will be lengthened to make up the deficiency.

DIVISION 4.

Miss Ruth Park was placed in charge of the spring term, and her success warranted a continuance through the fall and winter terms.

Miss Park brings more than the average scholarship and ability to the profession and with each experience will develop any qualities that at first may be lacking.

The examination at the close of the winter term was not as satisfactory as we could wish.

The indifference and insubordination that has been noted more or less for some years was altogether too prominent a feature to be overlooked. We hope to report an improvement in the future.

DIVISION 5.

This school has been varying—sometimes a primary grade, sometimes a regular ungraded school, and again a boys' school—but the same teacher, Miss Mamie Pettee, has ruled over all. She developed in the children considerable keenness and interest in studies, and a teacher who can keep her pupils interested in their lessons and general school work ranks among the successful.

DIVISION 7.

This school has been taught by Miss Julia Langdell the entire year. Judging from our visits, the school has appeared well both in order and lessons.

There was a thoroughness and understanding of studies evinced which reflects credit to both teacher and pupil—for thoroughness is one of the best tests of real progress.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Jennie Shattuck taught this school the entire year, consisting of two terms. It was the unanimous opinion of both parents and scholars that it was one of the best years of schooling they had ever had. We endorse the same.

Attended by different scholars, 134.

Taught by nine different teachers.

Number of visits by School Board, 90.

Number of visits by citizens and others, 450.

WOODBURY FUND.

The interest of the Woobury Fund has been expended in books and will be distributed throughout the town according to the usual custom.
